Six generations of excellence

Arthur C Towner Ltd has been serving the local community since 1875. They are a family-run undertakers and stonemasons with offices and chapels of rest in Bexhill-on-Sea, St Leonards-on-Sea and Battle. They also have a specialist stonemasons workshop close to the main office in St Leonards.

Six generations of the family have owned and run the business so it's fair to say they know the local customs.

The Company is a member of the National Society of Allied and Independent Funeral Directors: a guarantee of the high quality of service and that people are dealing with a truly independent, local company.

Being a family owned business, they don't have to answer to shareholders in the way the big, national companies have to. Their fees have always been extremely competitive and they do not 'sell up' the funeral with, for instance, a more expensive coffin than is necessary.

Their full, itemised funeral price list is on this website. There are no hidden extras – you can easily see how much your chosen funeral will cost. Their stonemasonry artists are, in their opinion, producing some of the finest work in the UK today.

Their skill and creativity are at their clients' disposal to bring their ideas to fruition.

They may have their roots in the past but their vision is to the future: their dedicated team strives constantly to improve and they are always ready to embrace new ideas.

McPhersons have been working as their accountant for many years and have recently assisted with the transition from Sage to Quickbooks as well as performed a de-merger of the stone masonry business to allow better reporting and simplifying the VAT setup.

"McPhersons have been our accountants for many years. I have always found them approachable, friendly and knowledgeable on any question I have ever thrown at them. They talk in language I can understand. With McPhersons I have access to a thoroughly professional team of people and I would not hesitate to recommend them to anyone – except my competitors!"
